‘Why the Rush for Toddler Vaccines?’ Asks Wall Street Journal Editorial Board Member

Allysia Finley, a member of Wall Street Journal's editorial board, Monday called into question the motives behind the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's decision to extend emergency use of Pfizer and Moderna's COVID-19 vaccines to infants and toddlers.

A Wall Street Journal (WSJ) editorial board member Monday called into question the motives behind the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's (FDA) decision to extend Emergency Use Authorization of Pfizer and Moderna's COVID-19 vaccines to toddlers and infants as young as 6 months old, writing that the decision was motivated by politics and pressure rather than science.

In her WSJ opinion piece — “Why the Rush for Toddler Vaccines?” — Allysia Finley wrote:

> “The FDA standard for approving vaccines in otherwise healthy people, especially children, is supposed to be higher than for drugs that treat the sick.
> “But the FDA conspicuously lowered its standards to approve COVID vaccines for toddlers. Why?”

Finley started her piece with a quote from President Biden, who praised the FDA's recommendation: “This is a very historic milestone. The United States is now the first country in the world to offer safe and effective COVID-19 vaccines for children as young as six months old.”

She responded, writing, “In fact, we don't know if the vaccines are safe and effective.”

She continued:

> “The rushed FDA action was based on extremely weak evidence. It's one thing to show regulatory flexibility during an emergency. But for children, Covid isn't an emergency.
> “The FDA bent its standards to an unusual degree and brushed aside troubling evidence that warrants more investigation.”

“Mr. Biden's hypocrisy is hard to stomach,” she wrote, listing many reasons for caution in vaccinating young children against COVID-19, including:

- Children are at low risk of dying from COVID-19: Only 209 kids between 6 months and 4 years old have died from COVID-19 — about 0.02% of all virus deaths in the U.S. About half as many toddlers were hospitalized with COVID-19 between October 2020 and September 2021 as were hospitalized with the flu during the previous winter.
- The two children in Pfizer's trial who got sick with COVID-19 also tested positive for other viruses. It's possible that many hospitalizations attributed to COVID-19 this winter were instigated or exacerbated by other viruses.
- The FDA authorized vaccines for toddlers based on a comparison of the antibodies they generated to the original Wuhan variant with those in young adults who had received two doses. But two doses offer little if any protection against Omicron infection in adults, and even protection against hospitalization is only around 40% to 60%.
- Vaccinated toddlers in Pfizer's trial were more likely to get severely ill with COVID-19 than those who received a placebo. Most children who developed multiple infections during the trial were vaccinated.

“FDA granted the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines for toddlers an emergency-use authorization allowing the agency to expedite access for products that ‘prevent serious or life-threatening diseases or conditions,’” wrote Finley.

“While adult COVID vaccines clearly met this standard in late 2020, the toddler vaccines don't.”

As to why the FDA “rushed” and “bent its standards,” Finley suggested, “perhaps [the FDA] felt pressure from the White House as well as anxious parents.”

White House COVID-19 response coordinator Ashish Jha repeatedly told parents that he expected vaccines for toddlers would be available in June, she wrote.

The reason has been discussed on this website and others..... Pfizer's next move will be to get the CDC to recommend or mandate that the Covid jab (can't call it a vaccine) will be put on the childhood vaccination schedule. This will give Pfizer immunity from liability FOREVER. That is the strategy. Because once the EUA goes away, they then would become liable. They are truly a monstrous, evil corporation. Their greed knows no limits. So my question is, if Pfizer says their vaccines are safe and effective and you can't sue them for any adverse reaction or death, can you sue them if they lied about their safety?

yes you can sue for any fraudulent, known false statements, and material omissions, made during application for the EUA

Parents need to be TRAINED to read the box. YES. Pfizer can be sued for misrepresentation, and declining to list the risk of a given medication. That means the shot boxes tell the truth. If parents would only read the long doleful list of possible side effects, including 'death', from vaccines, they might wake up and let their kids get a cold or flu, no matter what it's called, which is of minor concern, compared to the dubious risks involved with the vaccines.

That seems a common response here and elsewhere. But ALL "vaccines" and esp experimental ones have immunity from legislation passed years ago to protect Big Pharma. So it would seem another reason, like assuring that this is the last generation of survivors that cannot reproduce.

Attorney's have found a work around big pharma's immunity from liability for causing harm and or death.The attorney's representing those who were harmed or are suing for those who died are suing individuals within big pharma.Have you heard about individuals within big pharma resigning?They know what is headed big pharma's way.When the lies are exposed about the covid jab,big pharma as a whole is finished.This will open a whole can of worms.If they lied about the covid jab,what lies were told about other injections or drugs they have been poisoning people with and getting away with it?With big pharma,cures don't make money.Keeping people on the edge of illness and coming back for more of their poison does.

I've seen some disgusting videos of mothers holding a baby on their lap saying "Oh we're so excited now, can't wait to have my baby vaccinated". Poor kids, they don't get a chance to pick their parents.

I saw a news report showing parents lining up at Texas Children's Hospital to get their kids jabbed. I got sick to my stomach. Those poor kids. If they don't die immediately, the long list of long term injuries, is terrifying to think about. And these kids had no choice.

The only motive is to get these putrid injections on the regular vaccine schedule before they go off emergency use, if ever. Since they don't work, big pharma will demand 2-3 injections every year and make $$billions more in profits. That means that big pharma will also continue to enjoy non-responsibility for vaccine and injections...and retain the ability to maim and murder at will without an ounce of culpability. If Congress ever wanted to do one thing, just one, that would help this country, it would be to deconstruct the 1986 vaccine laws. This might restore my trust and faith in this country to 1%...right now it is negative zero.

Emergency use has even more liability protection than the nearly unlimited protection afforded standard vaccines, on federal level.

All I can figure is people simply are refusing to read the reports, the science, or the medical testimony because they are so emotionally invested in the magic potion narrative, that they'd rather they or their children suffer and die than admit their mistake. #CognitiveDissonance.

"Perhaps the [FDA] felt pressure from the White House as well as anxious parents." Pharma lobbyists constantly pressure the White House, which then reacts like the Pharma-trained lap dog that it is, and pressures the FDA. Of course, the FDA is also under pressure from Pharma directly. Now as to anxious parents, perhaps it would be more correct to change anxious to ignorant. There is something wrong when parents 'can't wait' to get their precious toddler jabbed. Something seriously wrong.

Okay all I can say is if these agencies: the FDA, CDC, NIADH (Fauci's org), Pfizer (all of the results in thousands of pages are documented), Moderna are not brought to justice--this will continue on and on. They will manufacture more and more epidemics with more and more "vaccines" which may be other genetically modified mRNA or DNA injections. THEY NEED TO GET IN TROUBLE NOW. Just taking away the mandate is not good enough. CRIMINALS KEEP DOING CRIMES UNTIL THEY ARE CAUGHT AND PUNISHED.

Cannot believe that parents buy in to this fraud and sterilizing/killer vaccines! Poor children noone to stand up for them! I would NEVER inject my kids nor animals with any kind of vaccines ever again after finding out whats in them and what that poison does immediately or in long terms! Vaccines is POISON and criminal EVIL!!! Why nobody in power puts an definite end to all of this poison vaccinations?!!! Why?

I agree with ya. Sure wish I could answer that question, but even I could, the answer wouldn't be good. You might not study prophecy, but I can tell you the verses where we're told that satan and his demons were sent here on earth, and have been since the beginning of time. We're also told that satan's time is short, and the closer we get to the 7 year Tribulation, the harder evil is pushed. And I've seen two major "things", that showed me just how close we are to the "beginning of the end", of which most people wouldn't want to hear about, except dedicated, and knowledgeable about bible prophecy, people.
Anyway, have you listened to this show yet? It's pretty depressing, about the vaccines for children, and all the sex shows that parents are letting their young children go to, but the guy named Leo seems to know about a verse or two, about the endtimes, and other news, that I hadn't known about. It's pretty educational for that. Try to hang in there! We don't need to put our head in the sand if we want to know how close we are to the Lord returning. He told us what to watch for! Listen about the "mark" in this show too! It's getting close!

"perhaps [the FDA] felt pressure from the White House as well as anxious parents."

Any pressure from anxious parents is all the media's fault for instilling so much fear into people. Parents wouldn't be anxious if they were told the truth that covid is not a threat to their children. Of course the truth wouldn't get said anxious parents to rush to get their children vaccinated.

It's just sad that most parents probably do more research into the type of car they put their child into or the equipment they buy for their child (strollers, car seats, etc.) than they do about what they allow doctors to inject into their children. It should be the opposite because once something is injected it can't be removed. But If you buy a crappy stroller it can be returned to the store for another one, thrown out, or the manufacturer can be sued if their product hurts the child.

That's what happened to my kids 30+ years ago from just the measles component of the MMR alone. I knew it was that because despite a two year age difference they were given the first shot on the same day. We were at Johns Hopkins within eight hours with them seizing and doctors looking totally confused.

I'm sorry this is the situation. My sister-in-law has been in and out of hospital for 3 weeks with blood clots, fluid in her lungs, and atrial fib. She seems to get better then relapses. Docs can't figure out what's going on. I suspect the Covid vaccines she got exacerbated her prior health issues but there's no way to bring it up. They're following "the science" you know...

I think most children and adults will do okay. But it's a vaccine roulette.

What's really galling is the comment thread by doctors on the story about Tiny Tony's recent personal experience with Covid over on Medscape.
Doctors describe the children in their households recovering from C-19 “in a few hours” with adults sick for a few days and yet FDA still behaves as if their paychecks are signed by Albert Bourla. Oh wait, maybe because they ARE? Forget about defunding police. We need to do some actual demolition work in Rockville at the FDA and NIH. They're waltzing with the Devil now. https://www.medscape.com/vi...

Sickness is the new health, depopulation sells $$ big, and get the CDC to have the depopulation clot shots on the vaccine schedule so Pfizer are immune from liability. Without the EUA, Pfizer and others are liable and are in desperate mode playing scapegoat on the government and other BS from being held liable for crimes against humanity. May the real Nuremberg 2 trials commence.

Anxious parents? 😄 I think they meant totally neurotic parents. Pressure from the White House? Is that how "science" works now? What everyone ought to be asking is, how long is this so-called emergency going to last? At this point the EUA is clearly an end-run that turns everyone into Guinea pigs for profit. Why is it still necessary? The threat no longer exists in the capacity it once did. If it existed at all.

Why the rush to toddler vaccine?

Answer. To kill the toddlers. And everyone else. Unless, by a mathematical miracle, or by playing Russian roulette with vaccine lot numbers (some are "hot", some are not), you received a "celebrity vaxx" consisting of nothing more harmful than placebo, saline or vitamin solutions instead of the DNA destructive variety.

Why does Joe Biden still stand on his feet? At least, once in a while. Answer: celebrity vaxx ... good day.

experimentation is "why" sterilization is the why. Maybe of the doctors are right, maybe the cancers come. Additionally, the globalist need a biologic interface for the 6G and the world. A metaverse idiocracy we will live in. For 20 years they have tried to get Graphene oxide to work as transmitters, but all they did was kill animals because it messes and CLOTS the blood. Add to that the funky new mRNA that no one knows a thing about, with highly impure vials. Gentic bits of whatever they want to put in. Literally big pharma butchery of medical purity. I heard nobody complaining when these people were using Africans as their subjects.

So now they have decided that they will experiment on all of us. And our kids. NO worries, they have billions of subjects right ? Who cares if a few millions die. They will perfect their grotesque dream now called as "The Great Reset"

Rockefeller foundation release a "reset the table" paper and not long after that, they go after the meat factories in the USA and the Netherlands. Like they promise they will in the Great Reset.

There is not, nor has there been a "food shortage" problem in my lifetime at least. The problem is and has always been is money. What they will do, is take away meat, feed you...

These people must face real justice at some time. Their crimes are comparable to many undergoing very severe punishment. They have an agenda that is not confined to this virus so every injection and every medicine is now suspect and thus will be rejected by a lot of people.

I received this in an email today!

Talk with your family about getting the little ones vaccinated.
In case you missed it, CDC now recommends COVID-19 vaccines for everyone 6 months and older, and boosters for everyone 5 years and older.

COVID-19 vaccines are safe and effective at preventing children from getting seriously sick.

If your loved ones have questions, you can share these 6 important things to know about COVID-19 vaccinations for children. Visit CDC.gov for more information on COVID-19 vaccines and dosage for children and teens.

Sincerely,

The Medicare Team

It makes no sense at all. No matter what the data says, their is never a pause, no reflection at all. Full steam ahead. Injections are the only treatment possible. Even if the data shows it's more risk than benefit, adverse outcomes, whatever it is, full steam ahead. And now babies and little children.

It's a world gone mad. Children don't even get sick from Covid. What are people thinking.

The covid shots are not safe or effective. Should anybody really be taking them, let alone children? The people should have been pushing back against this long ago; but, they were afraid and many still are. Were their minds manipulated without them realizing it?

It almost seems like this is a deliberate attempt to sabotage the human evolution. What do we really know about modified RNA?
